MAGNATES WILL HOLD MEETINGTo Discuss Pacific
National Affairs.

Club Owners in Conference
at Butte on January
Twenty-First.

Walter Wilmot Declares He Is Acting in Defense of His Interests.

Representatives of the four clubs of the Pacific National league will meet in Butte next Saturday night to talk baseball. At that time the magnates will decide whether it will be better to reorganize or to continue with the old organization. Letters have been sent to the different baseball managers of Spokane, Salt Lake, Boise and Butte, and each city will have at least one representative at the conference.

League Is Not Dead.

The Pacific National league is not dead. At least, this is the statement made by President Williams of the Spokane club. Walter Wilmot of Butte and H. O. Shepard of this city. President Williams insists that the organization is not dead, and that baseball authorities have voiced the same opinion. However, the club-owners declare the National association will back them up in their efforts to keep the Pacific National league going. If they desire to do so, it is for the purpose of coming to some kind of an agreement on the subject that the meeting has been called for next week.

Indications point toward the organization of a new six-club league to supplant the Pacific National. Spokane, Helena, Great Falls, Butte, Ogden and Salt Lake would be the cities included in the new league, in all probability. Boise will hardly stick this year, and, as the other cities have evinced no interest in a new league, probably will be organized.

What Wilmot Says.

In a letter to Manager H. O. Shepard of the Salt Lake club Walter Wilmot of Butte says he is not trying to run things in the Copper State. He claims that President Lucas and others have attempted to freeze him out, and he declares he has only been acting in defense of his interests.

TACOMA AGAINST DRAFT.

Files Protest Against Reopening and It May Be Sustained.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—In reply to his telegram protesting against the reopening of the drafting of the Tacoma club, President Burt of the Pacific Coast league today received the following telegram from August Hermann, chairman of the national committee:

"No action was taken by the committee to reopen draft against Tacoma club. It was suggested and approved by representatives of the National association that if changes are to be made in the national agreement, they should be provided against a recurrence of the same conditions in the future as existing against Tacoma this year. It was thought that this could be done by adopting a uniform contract with non-reserve players filed before drafting period."

"My own judgment is that on account of the fact that your association was not a party to the agreement at the time of its adoption, or when rules were made, and that the action of your players was filed with Secretary Farrell, that the draft should not be reopened against Tacoma any, although the matter has not been definitely decided by the committee. Will submit it to my colleagues at once."

GEORGE GARDNER IN TOWN.

On His Way to Denver to Train His Brother for Fight Next Week.

George Gardner, the well-known light-heavy-weight, passed through Salt Lake yesterday on his way to Denver, where he will train his brother Jimmy for a fight on January 23. Gardner stopped off for a few hours to look over the fight situation here, but came to the conclusion that he did not care to take a chance. Several men who aspire to be little promoters waited upon Gardner and endeavored to talk business, but the Lowell man said the atmosphere was too hazy at present. Gardner left for Denver last night.

AMATEUR SKATERS.

National Organization Formed With 10,000 Members.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Amateur skating organizations of the country have been brought into body at the annual meeting here of the National Amateur Skating association of the United States. This means a membership of nearly 10,000 skaters and carries forward the work begun by the late "Father Bill" Curtis several years ago. The rebelling of the old members was accomplished by the affiliation of the American Skating association and the Skier Athletic club, both of Chicago, and the Canadian Skating association.

In further carrying forward the government of figure and speed skating and placing it upon the high plane of a amateur athletics, the constitution was revised so that in future all amateur skaters must be registered in conformity with the method pursued now by the Amateur Athletic union.

Slight changes were also made in the adoption of new rules to govern competitions of figure and speed skating. Officers were re-elected as follows:

President, Henry Buermeyer, of the New York Athletic club; vice-president, Jerome Karsl, St. Louis Skating club; secretary-treasurer, Francis M. Clarke, West Chester Skating club.

Sanctions for the national championships and other meetings were awarded. The national indoor championship was scheduled for the Duquesne, Pa. arena, Pa.; national outdoor championship at Verona Lake, N. Y. The Illinois outdoor championship was scheduled for Chicago.

Practically every skating organization in the country had a delegate present, or was represented by a proxy.
